Reflection on the Sacrocubist Painting

The artist we are looking at today, Jorge Cocco, was born in Argentina in 1936. He calls his own style of painting sacro-cubism, because of the sacred subject matter he paints and because he borrows some stylistic elements from Cubism.

We see the group of the foolish virgins on the left. Their expression is passive and they look rather bored. The group of the five wise virgins is in the foreground on the right. They are lively, interacting with each other and joyfully expectant. The bridegroom is painted in the background, walking towards the virgins in rays of sunlight.

Jesus uses the context of a wedding to make his point about 'waiting'. They all were preparing and waiting for the same wedding. They all had the same bridegroom coming to them... but only five of them were taking the long-term view and came fully prepared...

We acknowledge the Kurna people, the traditional custodians on whose land this church was built. We commit ourselves to actively work alongside First Nations people for reconciliation and justice.

Not the Mighty Magill Market!

We will be joining in the national Garage Sale Trail on Saturday 21st, taking all necessary precautions to keep everyone safe.

We plan to hold plant, book and craft stalls outdoors on the day, so please start thinking about any items you can contribute.

More information from Helena or Bruce.

Gateways

The next meeting of Gateways will be Friday, 13 November at 7.30pm in the Kooka Rooms. We will be viewing and discussing a further episode of "The Christ Files" presented by Dr John Dickson.

Sam Colegrove will lead us. Please let Colin C know before Thursday 22nd if you plan to attend on 0427122106 or snout-n-nabout@bigpond.com

Dear Morialta congregation,

I'd like to thank you all for welcoming me into the Morialta Church family. I am enjoying my time here greatly and couldn't think of a lovelier, more supportive group of people to re-enter the workforce with.

I look forward to continually getting to know you all better with time.

Calvin and I really feel that we are becoming part of your wonderful community.

If you need anything from me, I am always available to assist in any capacity, whether it be office related or a friendly ear.

With love and appreciation, Nicole.

Singing in Worship at Morialta UC

From today, congregational singing will recommence.

We will still remain seated during the singing and be encouraged to use low to moderate levels of volume.

Of course, this decision was not taken lightly. Church Council recognises the range of views held by members of our community, but, based on advice available through State and Synod sources, Church Council considered the risk of contracting COVID-19 through this change in practice to be acceptable.
